North Delta Blue Jays 2018 Season

On behalf of Delta Council, I am pleased to extend greetings to the North Delta Blue Jays for the 2018 season.

The Blue Jays are an excellent and exciting team to watch. Each year the players demonstrate finely honed playing skills and sportsmanship, and their enjoyment and love of the game is shared by the fans that come out to cheer them on.

The North Delta Blue Jays continue to field top-notch players - many of which have been drafted by the Major League Baseball Association, or playing at colleges and universities throughout Canada and the United States.

I would like to express a special “thank you” to the parents, coaches, managers and volunteers for their dedication and hard work in building one of the best player development programs in Canada, and making this Club a great success.

Good luck and best wishes to the players - now, let’s play ball!

Kind regards,

Lois E. Jackson
Mayor
Our slogan with the North Delta Blue Jays is “BUILDING CHAMPIONS”. Many people mistake the meaning of this, and think this is about winning championships. While winning championships is ultimately what everyone plays for, we feel our program places a major focus on developing the player both on and off the field while maintaining a team first attitude.

We firmly believe that the effort to develop the behaviour and attitude of a champion will greatly improve your chance for success not only on the baseball field, but in all aspects in life as well. Our goal every year is to develop players who are ‘relentless competitors’. Players who embrace the idea that one does not become a champion in anything without commitment and discipline to hard work, a desire to constantly improve performances, an allegiance to one’s team and teammates, a respect for the game and an attitude that says I will never give up.

My goal, as well as the entire coaching staff, for the North Delta Blue Jays Program is to create an environment and culture where we are committed to player development and to put each player in situations where they can succeed. As a staff they will also stress to the players the importance of accountability, values, behavior and beliefs, that are in line with the culture and standards we set as an organization.

On a final note I would like to thank the many supporters of the North Delta Blue Jays, especially our sponsors who have so generously contributed to our program. Also to the parents who volunteer an enormous amount of time to our operations and to proving support to our players and coaches.

Best wishes to all for a successful 2018 season! Go Jays!

Canadian ballplayers continue to make their impact felt in a variety of leagues across North America, and a similarity among them is that many played in the Premier Baseball League for the North Delta Blue Jays. 2018 marks the 24th season for the Blue Jays. Over those years the Jays have offered high school-aged players the opportunity to play competitive baseball against the best players throughout BC and the Pacific Northwest.

Founded by Bob Burkmar, Mike Kelley, and Ari Mellios in 1995, the Jays originally played other club teams in the throughout BC and the US. In 1999, the Jays and five Lower Mainland club teams joined with the six-team Island Premier Baseball League. A year later, the league became the BC Premier Baseball League and expanded to its current 12-team format. Two of the first players to put the PBL on the map came out of the North Delta program: Justin Morneau (‘99) and Jeff Francis (‘99).

Drafted out of high school in the third round by the Minnesota Twins in 1999, Morneau was the American League MVP in 2006 and currently plays for the Colorado Rockies. As for Francis, he was taken ninth overall out of the University of British Columbia in the 2002 draft by the Rockies. His best season came in 2007 when he went 17-9, helping lead Colorado to the World Series where he started game 1. In 2015 he’s re-joined the blue and white, signing with the Toronto Blue Jays. Francis’s path to UBC is one that’s been followed other Blue Jays in past years. Tyson Popoff (’10), Mike Elias (’07), and former PBL MVPs Alex White (’06) and Jordan Padrinao (’06) are among the group who have donned the T-Bird blue and gold. Popoff holds the single-season record for batting average with a .401 clip posted in 2013.

“The BCPBL has always been the top high school-aged league in the country, [and] UBC has enjoyed a great relationship with the BCPBL, its coaches, and players over the years,” said UBC head coach Terry McKaig. “Having the top players in the province in the same league, playing against each other, is the reason so many great players have been developed over the years.”

One of the main goals of the Blue Jays is to prepare players for the next stage of their baseball career, wherever it may be. Alumni litter past and current rosters in the NCAA, NJCAA, NAIA, NWAACC and CCBC conferences, and they often mention how the Jays played a key role in making the desire to play baseball at a high level a reality. Players from all eras of the program have thrown around the words ‘work ethic’ when discussing what they found most valuable from their time in North Delta.

In a 2012 interview with the website “Chasing the Dream,” current Seattle Mariner James Paxton (’06) said that his work ethic came from Mellios, and former catcher and coach Jeff Hutton (’06) stressed how the program helped him not only with baseball, but with life as well. “Playing for the Blue Jays taught me how to push myself to work harder than I thought I was capable of.”

Playing for the Blue Jays taught me how to push myself to work harder than I thought I was capable of.

Whatever path a player takes after their time with the Blue Jays, it’s typically one towards success.

While the MLB might not be the endpoint for each alumnus, opportunities to play ball at the college level also mean an opportunity to receive an education, which can lead to a profession in a variety of fields; in the case of Michael Caleb (’07) and Jake Elder (’01), it may mean coming back to coach and pass on their wisdom. The ‘Building Champions’ across the back of Blue Jay practice jerseys isn’t just a valueless motto – it’s exactly what the program does.
